Chef Evan Dannels brings over 25 years of culinary expertise and a true passion for farm-to-table dining. Trained in French cuisine, he honed his craft at renowned establishments, including James Beard Award-winning L'Etoile in Madison, where he worked alongside Odessa Piper and Tory Miller, and the Michelin-starred Blackbird in Chicago under the guidance of Paul Kahan. Through his restaurant, Cadre, Evan blends classic French techniques with a distinctive local flair, celebrating the seasonal ingredients and small-scale farmers that define the Madison area. A dedicated advocate for sustainable, ethically sourced ingredients, Chef Dannels is committed to creating dishes that honor both the land and the people who cultivate it. At Cadre, every meal is a reflection of his unwavering passion for quality, community, and the art of fine dining.

Joan Peterson and her daughter/business partner, Susan Peterson Chwae, bring decades of expertise in the food and travel industries. Their journey began in the early '90s with the founding of their publishing company, Ginkgo Press, and the launch of the Eat Smart series—guidebooks that cater to travelers and food enthusiasts alike. Inspired by Joan's extensive global travels, these books offer an insider's perspective on the culinary cultures they explore. Encouraged by her readers, Joan expanded her vision by offering exclusive culinary and cultural tours for discerning travelers who appreciate the artistry of food and the opportunity to connect with local communities. A few years later, Susan joined Joan as co-leader, bringing her own expertise and passion to the experience. Together, they provide expert guidance on every tour, curating immersive journeys to amazing destinations—many of which have been repeated for returning travelers eager for more.
